Under the jurisdiction of Faculty and Staff, by authorization of their parents, students are expected:

Educationally

To be receptive to the teaching of faculty and staff, giving careful attention to instruction and responding diligently to assignments.

Behaviorally

To be aware of institutional rules as detailed in the Student Handbook, to seek to understand the rationale for each of the rules, and to obey them.

Organizationally

To submit to authorities: to God as supreme, to parents, to faculty and staff, and to other people in positions of authority in religious, political, and other institutions.

Interpersonally

To show respect to all people and learn courtesies appropriate to the situation and position of people.

Functionally

To function as a responsible and caring citizen in the school, in our host community, and in Germany, recognizing opportunities to help others and respecting personal and public property.

Effectively

To respond to the educational environment by showing physical, social, mental, and spiritual maturation with skills to serve and a sense of responsibility to others.

Declaration by the student

I have carefully read and agree to abide by the principles and guidelines stated in the BFA Student Handbook and the Role Definition of the BFA Student. I understand that I could be expelled if any of the information I have provided is false or misleading.
